Impossible Protein Staff:

I am a consumer of a salad at Rubios Mexican Restruarant (in San Diego, CA) three to five days a weeks, in which I use your Impossible Protein as my protein addition to my salad. (I very much like the taste of your vegetarian beef product).

However, I have been told by friends that there is healh danger in your product as you use GMO sobybeans (likely processed with alcohol which removes beneficcil isoflavones).

Apparently the GMO soy has been found to use significantly more herbicides then other soys (and therse herbicides could be toxic). Apparently there is alos concern about your use of "heme" in your process and weather or not it is safe for human consumption.

Can you please address these various issues for me and let me know what the Impossible Proteins company view is of these issues.

I like your product and would like to continue eating it; but of course I do not want negative healh issues.

Thank you,

Gary [REDACTED]
